Halt Georgia Speed
Traps; Register
Official Interested

MOTORISTS TOURING GEORGIA will have less reason to fear speed traps as a result of the Governor's recently announced campaign against them. This has some local interest because numerous residents of this area travel thru Georgia frequently, and because Mrs. Daisy M. Seright of The Register has an experience with a Georgia local patrolman this spring.

Governor Marvin Griffin of Georgia has pledged to the American Automobile Association (AAA) his determination to promote more pleasant travel in his state, according to an announcement received this week by Warren H. Leberman, general manager of the Harrisburg AAA office.

The Governor issued a statement denouncing "malicious speed traps" and warning he would order highway signs erected at the approaches to towns that persist in the unwarranted arrest of visiting motorists. The State Highway Department has been ordered to look out for and report all speed traps they uncover, the announcement said.

MRS. SERIGHT HAD an unpleasant experience at Meigs, Georgia, but it turned out better than at first anticipated. She was stopped by a local patrolman who insisted she had violated speed regulations.

She insisted in turn that she was not speeding, especially since she was stopped within a short distance from where she had made a complete stop at a highway signal light. But her arguments were of no avail. She finally posted a cash bond in lieu of awaiting appearance in court.

ARRIVING IN HARRISBURG, she wrote the Mayor of Meigs, complaining about the situation. Some friends, apprised of her intentions, told her writing a letter would be only a waste of time, but she sent it anyway. And, within a few days, she received a most cordial letter from the Mayor of Meigs, who apologized for inconvenience she suffered, explained that there had been a rash of speeding in the town, and returned her bail bond deposit.

She gave the letter to the local AAA office and it was, in turn, forwarded to the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the AAA, which replied:

"After the frequent, and often bitter complaints we have had about some Georgia communities, this provides a most refreshing contrast. We shall write direct to Mayor Bozeman to let him know that his cooperative attitude toward out-of-state motorists is very greatly appreciated."

Males More Accident Prone

More males between babyhood and middle age die from accidents than do females, statistics show.

But man or woman, if you have accidentally lost some article of value, a Lost Ad in The Daily Register has a good chance of finding the finder.

Folks all over town have recovered losses just that way. Phone 224 and let a courteous ad taker help you fix up your ad.

Attorney Scerial Thompson, 54, died at 9 o'clock this morning at his home at 415 North Granger street in Harrisburg.

Although he had been in poor health for a considerable period and recent examinations by physicians at a St. Louis hospital had indicated an unfavorable condition, his sudden death was unexpected.

Mr. Thompson had been an attorney at law in Harrisburg for more than 30 years, and had long been interested in Republican politics, at various times holding appointive offices at a district and local level.

His widow, Jane, survives. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Thompson, and his brother, Anthony D. Thompson, preceded him in death, the latter only a few weeks ago.

The body will lie in state at the Gaskins funeral home after 6 p. m. today, and further arrangements including funeral arrangements will be made Wednesday.

Sunday Auto Tours Invited to Help Launch 27th Ozark Group

The Sunday Auto Tour is invited to join in next Sunday's launching of the 27th annual Ozark Tour. The last adventure of the Auto Tours was a highly successful voyage of 90 members up the Ohio river from Cave-in-Rock.

The 3-day, men only, Ozark Tour will leave as usual, from the Colonial hotel in Harrisburg at 1 p. m. CST, followed by cars with children and friends of the Ozarkers. Friends of the Sunday Auto Tours are invited to join the caravan shortly after 1 p. m. on Routes 145 and 34 at the southeast edge of Harrisburg, bringing a picnic basket for a family style dinner as a send-off for the Ozark Tour of 1957. Rear bumper signs—"Shawnee Hills"—will identify cars in the caravan.

The place of the picnic and the route of the afternoon tour will depend on road and weather conditions. Plans may include a visit to the vicinity of One Horse Gap of Caroline Collier Holler, and a perpendicular hole known as Bear Crack Cave for the bear which fell into it never to be seen again after being shot by an early settler.

The picnic will be in the vicinity of Eddyville or Bell Smith Springs after the Ozarkers have been escorted to their first overnight camp at Easter Egg Cave.

Scout "White Eagle" Lowell Deering has announced completion of plans for the Ozark Tour visiting new spots near the Trigg Memorial Trail, as signposted from river to river with 300 posters under the leadership of Arch Voight, who designed the map for the Skyline Drive assisted by Tommy Gore and published as a place mat by Southern Illinois Incorporated.

Some of the choices along this cafeteria-like line of scenic attractions are: The Narrows on Bay Creek; the waterfall and Bear Den in Split Rock Hollow; Gum Springs in Cedar Hollow; possibly Jug Cave and Morta, Cave; Round Knob in the new addition to Ferne Clyffe Park and the scenic hollow to the south; Gora Canyon to the north east and the famous Dripping Rock in Cove Hollow and Copperas Springs near Triga Tower. The tour will be leisurely and rain may detour the route from mud roads to waterfalls.

Reservations are in from Professor M. J. White of Greenville, N. C.; Edgar L. "the Duke of Albion"; Thorpe McIntyre of St. Francisville; Lewis Nielsen, superintendent of the General Telephone Co.; Velmont McDaniel of Mac's Car and Home Supply, Harrisburg, who is inviting two others from St. Louis; Rees Turner, Harrisburg; George W. Flanagan, Thompsonville. SEIEC will supply a photographer and Wayne Leeman of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch is expected back from Army maneuvers to attend the tour. Homer Bow and Joe Aaron of the Evansville Courier also have been invited.

Wayman Presley plans to invite special guests to the church dinner in Webb Community church at 5:30 Monday. Official artist George Carr will be back on the tour. John Allen will be the historian. Indian experts will be Irvin Peith.

Plan Lie Tests In Investigation Of Fatal Fire

VIENNA, Ill. (UP)—Three state fire investigators, armed with lie detectors launched an investigation today into the deaths of a father and his four children.

Roscoe Martin, 46, and his children John, 14, William, 12, Jerry, 10, and Sheryl Mae, 3, perished in flames that swept their home six miles north of here Sunday.

Police Chief Bill Barnett said the blaze was reported by Don Pender, a visitor in the house at the time of the fire.

Pender told police that he, Martin and Billy McCuan of Tunnel Hill, were in the home before the fire. Mrs. Martin was not injured and McCuan was found sleeping in a car near the home.

Sheriff Orlan Cox said the investigators, who arrived Monday night, will use the lie tests on Pender and Mrs. Martin, if she agrees. Pender has already agreed to take the test, Cox said.

The sheriff said an empty-five gallon gasoline can found near the home spurred the arson investigation.

The bodies were retrieved from under a section of tin roofing. Firemen were handicapped by lack of water near the home and had to draw water from a pond.

Two Saline County 4-H Acts Advance To State Contest

Saline county had two acts selected to advance to the Illinois State Fair contest in the district 4-H Share-the-Fun contest held at Carmi Monday.

Saline county acts going to the state fair are the "4-H Country Show," a variety act similar to the Grand Ole Opry, by the Blue Ribbon club of Stonefort, Ethel Richerson, leader, and Gerald DeNeal, singer and mandolin player. DeNeal, member of the Rudeiment Ramblers 4-H club, Bob DeNeal leader, sang "Singing the Blues."

Approximately 700 people attended the district Share-the-Fun contest, with 27 acts presented. Four-H clubs from Edwards, Franklin, Galatin, Hamilton, Jefferson, Wayne, White, Wabash and Saline counties participated.

The acts were presented in the following categories—Dance, vocal, master of ceremonies, stunt or novelty and instrumental. Usually only one act from each category is selected to go to the state contest. However, this year the district competition was so tough that the judges picked a total of eight acts for blue ribbons and state competition.

The state-wide Share-the-Fun contest will be held Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 7 p. m. during the Illinois State Fair.

Clerk's Office Rushed by City License Buyers

Personnel in the Harrisburg City Clerk's office were really rushed Monday as many Harrisburg vehicle owners crowded the office to buy licenses.

Monday morning members of the Police department started giving tickets to motor vehicle owners without licenses. Forty tickets were issued and more than 100 licenses were issued during the day, City Clerk Olive Patterson reports.

Chief of Police Ross Lane said this morning the drive would be continued and again urged that the license stickers be displayed after purchased.

He said numerous telephone calls were received at police headquarters during the day from persons stating "we don't mind buying a license, but what about my neighbor." In most of such cases investigated, Lane said, it was found the license had been bought, but was being carried in the car instead of being displayed.

When the license is not displayed it not only causes the police to make unnecessary investigations, but often times is embarrassing to the individual questioned.

Other Presidents Criticized

Kerr Blast at 'Brain' Is Not First Time Eisenhower Under Personal Attack

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr's remark about President Eisenhower's "brains" is not the first time Eisenhower has been the target of sharp personal attack. In fact, every president since Washington has been subjected to caustic criticism.

The Oklahoma Democrat charged Monday that Eisenhower could not understand fiscal policies because that takes "brains and he doesn't have them."

Presidents have been attacked for everything from their choice of wives to trapping squirrels on the White House lawn.

George Washington hadn't even arrived in the capital to begin serving as the nation's first chief executive before congressional critics were accusing him of being too "monarchical."

Benson Urges Repeal of Corn Price Supports

Asks Congress to Junk 20-Year-Old Acreage Controls

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration today urged Congress to drop acreage controls and repeal mandatory price support floors for corn — the nation's basic livestock feed grain.

The proposal went to the Senate in a 100-page report on methods of improving federal feed grain programs. It would junk a 20-year-old corn acreage control system which Agriculture Department officials said has failed to prevent surplus feed grain production.

Under current law, the government is required to prop corn prices between 75 and 90 per cent of parity for growers who comply with acreage allotments in a 24-state "commercial" growing area.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's proposal would put corn in the same position as other animal feed grains — oats, barley and grain sorghums. Supports for these grains, which have no production controls, are now discretionary with the secretary at any level between zero and 90 per cent of the "fair price" parity level.

Benson's report was in response to a May 2 Senate resolution which called for a study of the feed grain problem and suggestions for new legislation. The agriculture secretary submitted drafts of two alternate bills. One would set corn supports between zero and 90 per cent of parity. The second would fix the prop range for corn between 60 and 90 per cent.

Benson said he preferred the first proposal. Both, however, would repeal a current law under which price supports for corn are automatically raised when surpluses are reduced.

Benson suggested his program be put into effect in 1959. He said the corn acreage allotment system should be retained next year to give corn growers a chance to reduce surpluses by placing part of their allotted acreage in the surplus-reducing soil bank. If Congress wants to, however, the new corn program could be started for the 1958 crop, Benson said.

He suggested a similar plan earlier this year when Congress was considering, a 1957 corn acreage bill. It drew practically no support from corn belt Republicans.

Youth Held in Jail for Tampering With Automobile

A Harrisburg youth is being held in the Saline County jail and will be charged with tampering with an automobile, Sheriff William Barrett reported this morning.

About 9 p. m. Monday City Policeman Floyd Kimbro noticed a youth pushing an automobile near his home and started to give him an assist. Kimbro reports the youth was anxious to have help until he recognized the policeman, then ran. That was the first time Kimbro realized something was wrong other than a stalled auto mobile.

Kimbro had recognized the youth, who has had brushes with the law in the past. Kimbro was not on duty at the time, but notified both city and county officers and joined in the hunt.

The two forces split up, city officers looking along Route 45 and county officers travelling south on Route 34. They found the youth walking along the highway near the Harrisburg Drive-in theatre.

The automobile is owned by Charles Harrison of Herod and had been brought to the Humm Motor company, Harrisburg, for repair. It is reported there was no drive shaft in the automobile at the time the youth was pushing it in an effort to get it to start.

Vote Today on Bringing Bill Before Senate

Knowland Says President Willing To Clarify Measure

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republican congressional leaders said today that President Eisenhower is not willing to "compromise" his civil rights legislation but would not object to "clarification."

This was reported as both friends and foes of the bill agreed that the Senate will give the administration a smashing first-round victory later today.

The test will come in a vote on Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland's motion to bring the four-point measure formally before the Senate, bypassing the Judiciary Committee.

Knowland reported the President's attitude after the weekly legislative conference at the White House. Asked if the administration is ready to compromise, Knowland said: "The word is clarification, and not compromise." The chief executive's "basic" position remains unchanged, Knowland said.

Knowland declined to define what he meant by clarification. He said any detailed discussion must await actual Senate consideration of the controversial measure.

Southern senators contend one section of the bill would give the President power, to use federal troops to force racial integration in southern schools. The administration disclaims any such intention. Presumably this is one point that might be subjected to clarifying amendments.

Knowland also said there have been no agreements or negotiations concerning the form of clarifying amendments and that Republicans in the Senate will not undertake such negotiations with the Democrats until after the bill becomes pending Senate business.

Knowland said he told the President the motion to get the bill on the calendar would win by a substantial majority.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) predicted the motion would carry by a 2-1 majority. This would mark the first time a rights bill has gotten that far in the Senate in more than a decade.

Southern foes were reluctant to concede defeat but privately they agreed with Dirksen.

Immediately after the vote Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) planned to offer a motion to send the bill to the Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back to the Senate in seven days. Morse does not want to bypass the appropriate Senate committee, which Knowland's motion does. The Oregon senator's move is expected to be defeated — possibly late today or Wednesday.

Then will come the formal stage of debate on the bill which once threatened an all-out southern filibuster lasting up to eight weeks. With talk of compromise now in the air, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) predicted confidently the Senate, without a filibuster, will pass a "purely voting rights" bill with a proviso for jury trials, and that "It will be behind us in two weeks."

Knowland thought the debate more likely will wind up about Aug. 15 — still two weeks earlier than his original Sept. 1 forecast.

The bill, as passed by the House, provides for a bipartisan commission to investigate violations of voting rights; a new civil rights division in the Justice Department; government authority to seek injunctions in federal courts to halt conspiracies against civil rights, and similar injunction authority to prevent threatened abridgment of Negro voting rights either by private persons or public officials.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson says: Three congressmen paved way for utility lobby on highway program; Ambassador Thompson ordered to Moscow despite his ulcers; skipper of USS Saratoga confiscates copies of Merry-Go-Round.

Washington.—The leadership of three congressmen is going to cost the taxpayers about two billion dollars extra for the new federal highway program. This will be the approximate amount to be paid to the gas, electric, telephone, and water companies for moving their poles, pipes and conduits when the highways are widened.

In the past this has been paid by the utilities themselves. But the utilities are now telling state legislatures that Uncle Sam will pay 90 per cent of the bill, so the states might as well let the federal government pay for moving poles, pipes and conduits.

The three congressmen who paved the way for this juicy hike in the federal highway bill are: Ex-Congressman George Dondero of Royal Oak, Mich.; Gordon Scherer of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Harry McGregor of West Lafayette, Ohio, all republicans.

Three other congressmen warned their colleagues what would happen: Jack Dempsey of New Mexico, Robert Jones of Alabama, and Brady Gentry of Texas, all democrats. However, Congress ignored their advice and decided to let each state decide whether to make the utilities pay.

It was a golden opportunity for companies like AT&T, which promptly unleashed its lobbyists in the various state legislatures. Now the Bureau of Public Roads reports that in 38 legislatures laws have been either introduced or passed to pay the utilities for moving their facilities as old highways are widened into modern highways.

The utilities get valuable access rights along public roads without paying a cent for the privilege, also frequently write off moving costs against taxes. Hence most states in the past have required them to move at their own expense.

Rep. Gentry has retired from Congress, but Dempsey and Jones are backing a new law that would prohibit any further handouts to the utilities, also bar them from receiving free access rights along new federal-aid highways.

Note—Rep. John Baldwin, Republican of Martinez, Calif., also urged that the utilities not pay for moving their facilities. His proposed concession was so bald-faced in its generosity that it had no chance to win. The smoother approach of Dondero, McGregor and Scherer of letting each state decide, played into the hands of utility lobbyists.

Tommy Thompson, new ambassador to Russia, was ordered to Moscow last week regardless of his ulcers. The American Embassy, as usual in time of crisis, was ambassadorless. Prediction: Thompson will get more ulcers.

Since Roy married the widow of Truman's old press secretary, Charlie Ross, friends say he's become a real human being. . . internal revenue chose the hottest weeks of the year to overhaul the water-cooling system and air-cooling for its offices. "It is realized that this is one of the worst times to be without chilled drinking water," read a treasury notice to employees. "However, the General Services Administration has advised that the work must be done at this time." . . . Punctuality is important in diplomacy, but you can't be too punctual. When Prime Minister U-Nu of Burma arrived on schedule to see Secretary of Agriculture Benson a couple of years ago, Benson kept him waiting so long that U-Nu departed.

Our Biggest Carrier

This column recently told the inside story of how Capt. Robert Moore, skipper of the USS Saratoga, spent $85,000 to redecorate it for Eisenhower's overnight cruise. Members of the Saratoga's crew mimeographed a thousand copies of the column for distribution aboard ship. When Captain Moore got wind of it, however, the mimeographed copies were confiscated.

Captain Moore strides the bridge with a long cigarette holder clamped between his teeth, is as sharp a ship handler as the Navy has. But here are some other incidents taking place aboard the "Sara," our biggest carrier, which create a morale problem the Navy might well investigate.

Efficient Captain Moore once sent two bedspreads to the ship's laundry. One came back more shrunken and faded than the other. Irked, Moore claimed he had sent matching bedspreads to the laundry and confined the whole laundry crew to quarters for two days until his wife discovered he had sent the wrong bedspread to the laundry.

More tried to take a shower in his cabin and found no hot water. He summoned the chief engineer and ordered him to shut off the

These are a few of the incidents which explain why morale is bad on the Navy's biggest carrier, Merry-Go-Round.

Secretary Benson has a gift for picking assistants who antagonize farmers. One of his first assistants in 1953, John Davis, made a speech to farmers saying "when are you farmers going to get off the public teat?" His new assistant secretary, Don Paarlberg, made a speech at Middlebury, Conn., Aug. 12, 1955, telling farmers they are in "a dream world which no one expected to last." . . . In September, 1955, he was quoted as calling the farm depression a "statistical depression." . . . Earlier, in Chicago in 1951, he told farmers: "Price supports for farm products are based on the assumption that a dollar is worth more in the pocket of a farmer than in the pocket of anyone else." . . . Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri is leading the attack on Paarlberg's confirmation. Two Republican ex-farmers are on the committee to pass on Paarlberg—Sen. Ed Thye of Minnesota, an ex-chicken farmer, and Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, and an ex-nurseryman. They are expected to support Benson's choice.

Russia to Permit Foreigners to Bring Autos for Holiday Touring

MOSCOW (U.P.)—The Soviet Union this summer is permitting foreigners for the first time to bring their own automobiles into the country and spend a holiday crossing the Russian nation.

Not many Americans are expected to take up the offer but those who do will find an interesting contrast with the American road network of billboards, motels and speed traps.

Vast as this country is, there is no chance of the visitor getting lost, or one thing, he must stick to one of the two trunk highways. To make sure he does, an Intourist Agency guide will join him at the frontier and accompany him throughout the trip.

Repair Shops Available

The highways—especially the north-south route from Moscow to the Black Sea—are excellent by Russian standards and, in most places, good by European ones. They are three and sometimes four-lane roads with long stretches where you can put your foot to the floorboard.

Gas stations, repair shops, snack bars and restaurants are to be found about every 100 miles. Hotels are spaced at reasonable distances and built right out on the highways in the remote Steppes.

Traffic is very light, consisting mostly of trucks and busses. There are no hitchhikers. When Russians travel, and they love to, they usually go by train. Few have private cars.

Whenever the foreign tourist stops in a village or small town, he will be surrounded by wide-eyed onlookers including knowledgeable young men commenting on the mechanical features of his auto.

Driving Rules Simple

- Rules for driving are simple:
- 1. Stay on the right hand side
- 2. Highway and traffic signs are pretty much the same as in Western Europe. One difference is that you can turn right on a red light.
- 3. Drivers must keep their cars clean. If a policeman spots a dirty, muddy car, he has the right to stop it and fine the occupants.
- 4. Speed limit in a city is 35 mph. On the open road it is unlimited.

Should you run out of gas between filling stations, put an empty can on top of your car. The next truck that comes by will know your trouble and offer to sell you some of his gas—at a profit.

of the "Bloomer Girl" styles of the past, this Harem skirt, which billows over a tight hemline, is

Life Guided by Natural Laws, Rotary Advised

Life is neither a game nor a chance, stated the Rev. W. L. Cummins before the Rotary club Monday at noon. Rev. Cummins, pastor of the Harrisburg Methodist church, was introduced by Harry Horning, program chairman.

Rev. Cummins said that man is guided by certain laws as the doctor or scientist is guided by scientific laws. When we do things we have come to expect certain results, as life is operated on a strictly scientific basis, he said. He quoted Arthur Compton, noted American physicist, as saying the greatest discovery he ever made was that the world is an orderly world subject in every detail to a government of law. Rev. Cummins emphasized that the measure we receive is the measure we give.
In closing he said the only way to receive legitimate things is to abide by the law and that there isn't any complete personal freedom only freedom under law.

Sam Gilpin and Lewis Ute of the Carmi Rotary club were guests of the club and Henry Winkelman was welcomed as a new member.

James Cox, '20 Candidate for President, Dies

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — James M. Cox, who arose from a country school teacher to be newspaper publisher, governor and Democratic candidate for president in 1920, died at his home here Monday night. He was 87.

On the 1920 ticket with Cox was vice presidential candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt, at that time assistant secretary of the Navy and who later was elected president four times.

Cox, Ohio's first three-time Democratic governor, won his party's nomination for the presidency on the 44th ballot in the 1920 San Francisco convention after a heated contest against U. S. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer and Sen. William G. McAdoo.

Cox's nomination for president made certain an Ohio newspaperman would be elected the country's chief executive.

Beaten By Harding

The Republicans had nominated Warren G. Harding, a U. S. senator and publisher of the Marion, Ohio, Star. Harding won a sweeping victory with his front porch campaign calling for a "return to 1920."

Cox and Roosevelt had taken a strong stand in support of Woodrow Wilson's position for a League of Nations, and this was one of the factors political sources said contributed to their defeat.

The Governor, as Cox was affectionately known, served two

Navy Jet Sets New Record

NEW YORK (AP) — A Navy jet fighter streaked across the country at more than 1,000-mile-an-hour top speeds today setting a new transcontinental record of 3 hours, 23 minutes and 8.4 seconds.

Marine Maj. John Glenn Jr. took off from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, Calif., at 8:04:12.2 a. m. c. d. t. His F4U Corsair jet was clocked over the control tower at Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station here at 11:27:20.6 a. m.

His average speed was unofficially figured at 726.48 miles per hour for the 2,460-mile trip.

Glenn beat by 21 minutes and 45.48 seconds the existing official transcontinental record, set March 9, 1955, by Air Force Lt. Col. Robert F. Scott in a F84F jet.

Glenn said he hit "a little bit over 1,000 miles per hour" between refuelings, for which he had to slow below the speed of sound

56 Killed in Pacific Crash of Dutch Airliner

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP) — A Dutch airliner caught fire today on takeoff from the South Pacific isle of Biak and crashed into the sea with 56 persons aboard.

Preliminary reports said 56 persons were missing and feared dead in the crash and that 12 persons including the stewardess escaped with their lives.

The airline said several of the 12 survivors were injured seriously. All of the survivors were Dutch, it said.

The plane, a Constellation of the KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, was reported to have sunk in 700 feet of water. It was taking off from Mokmer airstrip which was hacked out of a coral island by U. S. Navy Seabees in World War II.

The plane carried 59 passengers, three of them Britons and the remainder Dutch, and a crew of nine, all Dutch. Many of the victims were consular officials and naval officers and their families en route to Holland on leave.

Biak Island is off the northern tip of New Guinea and was used by the U. S. Navy during the war for operations against the Japanese-held Solomon Islands. KLM uses the old airstrip for a twice weekly service to Amsterdam.

Cement Strikes Threaten to Halt Projects

By United Press
A prolonged strike which has cut the nation's cement production by 70 to 75 per cent today threatened to halt work on several multi-million dollar construction projects and idle thousands of additional workers.

Federal mediators believe negotiations this week will determine whether the walkout, which has idled some 16,000 cement workers across the nation, will be settled or drag on for weeks to come.

Crux of the walkout, which is now in its third month in some Eastern plants, is a union demand for an hourly wage boost of 13.5 cents, plus fringe benefits of 2.5 cents, retroactive to May 1.

Convict's Story Linked to Mrs. Sheppard Slaying

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — A 34-year-old convict has signed a statement that he beat a housewife to death in Cleveland about the same time pretty Marilyn Sheppard was killed in 1954, Sheriff Rodney reported today.

Bushy-haired Donald Joseph Wedler told Thursday that he could not sleep nights until he got the murder confession off his mind. Details of the confession matched closely some of the circumstances of the celebrated Sheppard murder July 4, 1954, although the sheriff said Wedler never mentioned the name "Sheppard."

Dr. Samuel Sheppard, a young Cleveland osteopath, was convicted Dec. 21, 1954, of second degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

He always maintained that he was not guilty of killing his pretty wife in their fashionable suburban home in Cleveland. Dr. Sheppard told the court that a bushy-haired stranger beat his wife to death with 35 blows on the head.

Thursday said Wedler, now serving a 10-year term for robbing a Tampa, Fla., cafe in September, 1954, "was jailed here June 11—the same day he escaped from a state prison work gang. At the time Thursday said Wedler called him in for a "talk."

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Fishing Success Takes A Tumble

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)
Fishing success has taken a tumble everywhere in Southern Illinois except Lake Murphysboro where the channel cat run, good for the past few weeks, has become even better.

More than 300 pounds of "fiddlers" were taken from Lake Murphysboro during the first week of July, the largest of which went 15 and one-half pounds. It was hooked on a trotline set by Murphysboro's Bud Rose, who picked up an eight and one-half pounder on the same night. He also harvested several one to three-pounders.

R. Mabry, of Mulkeytown, along with a pair of Herrin fishermen caught a daily average of 25 pounds of channel cats in four consecutive days of jug fishing. They were using crayfish, shrimp and worms, but said their best results were obtained with crayfish.

The channel catfish is a voracious type, and will eat virtually anything when the urge is upon him. Dough baits are often effective, and one of the easiest to prepare is a half-and-half mixture of cotton seed meal and flour along with enough water to knead it into firm balls.

Fiddlers spend the daytime hours in deep holes or under water piles of brush, but move into the shallows at night. A slender pole set into the bank, with a 2/0 hook and three-foot chalkline for rigging, is a proven weapon.

Bass fishing remains lively at Lake Murphysboro, but no catches of any size were reported last week. A 20-pound redear was the best effort recorded by panfish anglers, who were having generally mediocre luck.

Little Grassy Lake appears to be in topnotch fishing condition but only the tenacious "old pros" have had appreciable success. "Slim" Rushing, of Percy, boated an eight-pounder, top catch of the month so far. Ralph Vorhees, Murphysboro, caught a six and one-quarter pounder on a Black Eel, as did Ray Graf, of Willisville. Others with catches exceeding five pounds were J. A. Moskop, Percy; Jim Norton, Alto Pass and Don Baker, Belleville.

Bluegill and crappie fishing is good in deep water at Grassy, but the crappie are running quite small.

Glen Lewis, Cape Girardeau, and "Slick" Stevens, Olive Branch, strung up a few bass at Horseshoe Lake, fishing "in the trees" with the Helldiver and Shannon Persuader. The biggest one weighed four and one-half pounds. Bluegill and crappie fishing at Horseshoe has been somewhat slow.

A bulletin just in from Pinckneyville city lake shows crappie fishing to be a touch on the sensational side, with 225 seven and eight inches checked between July 10 and noon, July 11. Pinckneyville's "Spec" Stanton caught 85 crappie and two bass in 90 minutes of fishing. Bass are hitting fly rod poppers in the early morning hours and Jack Logan, Pinckneyville, landed a four-pounder. Fish were checked at H. Walton's dock. The lake is in fine fishing condition. To Pinckneyville!

Carbondale Reservoir looks good for the first time this year, but crappie and bluegill action has been sluggish and no bass catches have been reported.

Small bullheads and bass as well as an occasional bullhead or channel cat are being caught at Lake Harrisburg. The lake is in excellent fishing condition.

Fishing at both Sahara Lake and Lake Moses has been slow.

$52,677 Estate

By Babe Zaharias

TAMPA, Fla.—(UP)—Famed woman athlete Babe Zaharias, a victim of cancer, left an estate valued at $52,677.40, it was officially reported Monday.

The probate department of the Hillsborough County judges office received the official report from court-appointed appraiser who spent almost one year totaling up the estate's value.

The appraisal does not, however, include the property the Babe had jointly owned with her husband, George Zaharias. The property she owned in her name only was composed mostly of a $33,000 apartment house and a lot valued at $15,000, both situated in Santa Monica, Calif.

Mrs. Zaharias died last September at Galveston, Tex., where she had gone for treatment of cancer. She and her husband had lived here in a jointly-owned home prior to her death.

Her will directs that income from the estate be used to pay the living expenses of her husband and his parents, and that the remainder be divided among his three sisters, three brothers, three sisters-in-law and two brothers-in-law.

Four-Day Week Goal Poses 'Chicken or Egg' Question

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—"You shouldn't make so many speeches for the four-day week," an auto industry executive told United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther recently. "Then you wouldn't have to back up so far."

"What makes you think we're going to back up?" Reuther retorted.

The scrappy UAW head has set the four-day 32-hour week as the goal for his next collective bargaining negotiations with the auto tycoons. He says he doesn't know which company he will make his demand on first, and he wouldn't tell now if he did.

But the shorter work week is fundamental, he says, and it's going to come out of automation and increased technology.

He gives as an example the fact that when he first went to work in the Ford plant, it took 41 hours of labor to machine an engine block. Now, in Ford's Cleveland plant, an engine block can be machined in 14.6 minutes. And this plant is already obsolete, he says. They're scrapping it because it's too slow.

But the auto industry's sharp-pencil boys have also been busy. They have been calculating what the cost of the four-day week would be and how to pay for it.

ONE OF THEIR basic calculations is what would happen if the entire U. S. economy were put on a four-day, 32-hour week.

They begin with the figure on total payrolls for all U. S. workers in 1956, which was at the rate of 239 billion dollars a year in December. The total number of hours worked was 133 billion.

So the average wage for the average worker was $1.79 an hour, or $71.60 a week.

Under the four-day week wages are supposed to remain the same as for a five-day week. The number of hours worked would be cut 20 per cent, however, or down to 106 billion.

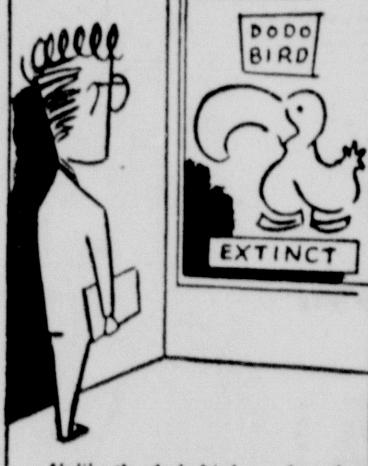

Average hourly earnings on a 32-hour week would therefore be $2.25 — a 46-cent-an-hour increase over 1956.

The next step is to see how much overtime would have to be put in at time-and-a-half pay to turn out the same volume of goods and services produced in 1956. This assumes a working force of the same size as in 1956.

THE AMOUNT of time "lost" by the shorter work week would be 133 billion less 106 billion, or 27 billion hours. The time-and-a-half-

How Texas Eastern helps this blind keep its coat on

Neither summer heat, winter cold, nor housekeeper's soapy rag can make a Flexalum Venetian blind peel its colorful coat... thanks, in part, to Texas Eastern.

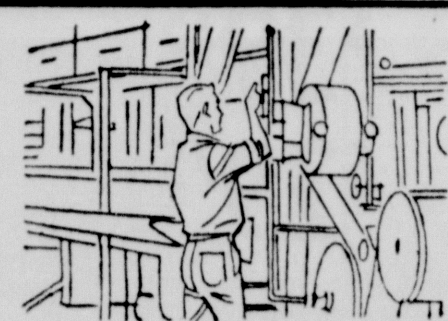

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest for use in the Flemington, N. J., plant of Hunter Douglas Aluminum Corporation. Here, the gas is used to bake enamel finishes that won't chip, crack or peel on Flexalum, blind slats. Because temperature control is very critical in the short-cycle baking process used, clean natural gas, with its uniform heat, is the ideal fuel for the job.

Dairy Brand, Coca-Cola, First Baptist And Ridgway Win Kiwanis League Games

Dairy Brand topped Skaggs Pharmacy, 18-17, Coca-Cola beat Ridgway, 14-8, First Baptist pounded Shawneetown, 16-3, and Ridgway downed Social Brethren, 5-4, in Kiwanis games played Monday.

Dairy Brand pushed across a run in the last inning to gain an 18-17 decision over Skaggs. Turner doubled and singled and M. Johnson and Gully singled twice each to lead the winners. For the losers Wright, Rose, C. Meadows and B. Meadows had three hits and McClendon and G. McConnell hit safely twice. Gully was the winning pitcher and Rose took the loss.

Summers and Stunson blasted four base hits apiece and Stunson tossed a two-hitter to give Coca-Cola a 14-8 win over Ridgway. The score was tied until the Cokes tallied three times in the fifth and then led the game with five more in the sixth. Boone had three hits and Daley had one for the winners and Jones and Vaughn hit safely for Ridgway.

Karnes hurled a three-hit, three-run game for First Baptist in beating Shawneetown, 16-3. Henshaw led the winners at bat with three triples and a single, followed by Karnes with three singles. Craver, Cushman and Wiley had two hits each and Wirth and Ramsey hit safely once. Mayhall doubled and singled and Case singled for Shawneetown.

D. Hutchinson pitched a two-hitter but gave up one more run than Jones, who allowed three hits, and Ridgway beat Social Brethren, 5-4. Hutchinson, who walked 12, struck out seven. Jones walked five and fanned 10. Kirby and Abell had the winners' hits and McKeever homered and Simpson pitched.

The Eldorado tennis courts will be the site of a tennis clinic and exhibition Wednesday that should be of great interest to all tennis players and fans.

John R. LeFevre, S. I. U. tennis coach, will head the group of tennis players participating in the clinic and exhibition. With LeFevre will be John Powless, Flora age, and Ron Underwood and Jim Jarrett, SIU's number one doubles play.

The clinic is set for Wednesday afternoon and the exhibition will be under the lights, starting at 7:30 p. m. There will be a singles match, followed by doubles play.

John Cherry, Galatia coach last year, will join the Carbondale Community high school coaching staff.

Cherry had originally planned to return to Galatia, but had the opportunity to go to Carverville and accepted the job.

There were two features about the Carverville post that appealed to Cherry.

The school plays football and it would give him a chance to break into the gridiron ranks. Also it is much closer to Carbondale than Galatia and would make it much more convenient to do additional work on the SIU campus.

Then a place on the Carbondale Community coaching staff opened and Cherry asked for, and obtained a release from Carverville. He is now in a bigger football school and even closer to the SIU campus.

Charles "Chuck" Leonard, assistant coach at Eldorado high school for about ten years, has resigned from the post in order to have more time for his teaching duties.

Leonard considered resigning from the coaching staff before the start of the 1956-57 term but changed his mind late in the summer.

Norris City high school, entering football competition on a full-scale basis this fall, may not use its now-under-construction gridiron this fall and may play its games on the Norris City Legion lighted baseball field.

Work on the new gridiron is progressing nicely and the project has been given a big boost by the donation of sufficient pipe for eight light poles by the Sohio Pipeline company.

Leveling work is now being completed, then the field will be seeded.

Maybe the new field will be ready for use by the time the season opens the middle of September—just two months from now—but it is doubtful.

Geoffrey "Red" Moore, veteran of 28 years in southern Illinois coaching ranks, will move to Carrollton next term.

Moore coached at Eldorado for seven years and has been at Elkville for the past 12 years. He also has coached at Goreville, Carbondale and Zeigler.

Leon Richardson, head basketball and baseball coach at McLeansboro high school, has submitted his resignation to go into the college ranks.

Sanford Hurls Phillies Into First Place With 6 to 2 Victory Over the Cardinals

By United Press

Handsome Jack Sanford, ignored as a major league prospect by the Boston Red Sox 10 years ago because he was too small, stood at least 10 feet tall today in the eyes of Philadelphia's pennant-smelling fans.

The rookie right hander from Wellesley, Mass., pitched the Phillies into first place in the National League Monday night by posting a five-hit, 6-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It marked the first time the Phillies occupied the top rung of the NL standings at this stage of the campaign since 1950. And nobody in Philadelphia has to be reminded that was the year the old Whiz Kids won the pennant.

This new group of Whiz Kids now has won 12 of its last 14 games, moving from fifth place on July 1 to its present elevation—a half-age ahead of the Cardinals. Sanford has been the "big man" in the drive, allowing only 15 hits while posting three straight complete game victories.

Nabs Strikeout Leadership

In raising his season won-and-lost record to 12-2 Monday night against the Cardinals, Sanford took over the major league strikeout leadership by whiffing seven

NAN STANFIELD owned one of the best boats on the river. It was not as big as the Copeland cabin cruiser, nor as filled with gadgets as some others, but it was a fine boat, just the same, with a smooth engine and good lines. Dr. Lillard had given this craft to her the summer before, shortly after her engagement to Kurt became a known thing.

She had often asked Garde to come with her on her boat but until this hot July afternoon something had always spoiled their plans. But this day—she hailed Garde when he came home about 2.

"How about a ride?"
"Fine! I'll change."
He did change, and quickly; well before 3 he was down at dockside with her, grinning at his yachting costume of blue jeans, striped T-shirt and canvas sneakers.

Bill Marquart and Frank McManus on the pier signaled their safe getaway. Garde settled himself on the "wide porch" and considered the fact that his costume in no way resembled their visored caps, white trousers and shoes. His shirt maybe approached theirs—Bill's was blue, Frank wore a checkered sport shirt.

Garde took a deep breath. "Well," he said with satisfaction, "I'm on it!"

Nan glanced over her shoulder, laughing. "What was that?"

And he told her. Of his first trip to Bayard, and the way he had leaned against Copeland's fence and had watched Nan and Valley working on this very boat.

"Some guy was helping you..."
She frowned in an effort to remember. Then did. "Oh, yes, Bob Sims."

She asked how the well-baby clinic was going, and he told her. "Way beyond our expectations—we're really busy, and some of it, of course, slops over on the other men. I'm donating three A&Ts to Cornel this week. With no cheers heard as yet. That's ton sillectomies."

"Thank you, Dr. Shelton. Valley told me that you talk a foreign language."

Garde sat up, then slipped to the seat beside her. "Poor Valley," he mused. "She's really taking a beating. I'm surprised that she sticks it."

"She says you're an entirely different man at the clinic."

"In the hospital, I'm more doctor than man, I expect."

"Not to Valley, you're not. She'd call that a foul suggestion."

Garde grinned. Yes, that would be Valley's comment.

"People have to fall for Valley," Nan continued, her eyes straight ahead. "And when they don't..."

"I like Valley."

She shot him a look. His mouth was tight about the pipstern in his teeth. Deep lines creased his cheeks. "Garde?" she asked, "can I safely say something to you?"

"I won't throw you out of your own boat."

She smiled. "Well, it's this. Maybe you haven't considered it—but aren't you, perhaps, on the defensive about Valley? I mean, could it be that you're extra-tough with her because you're afraid she'll fall in love with you?"

HE didn't answer. There was no answer, it seemed to him, that a man could make.

Nan went on, now holding her gaze to the river, not so much as flicking her eyes toward the big man beside her. "I suppose that every man who sees Valley—certainly every man who knows her at all well—gives some consideration to what it would mean to be loved by her."

Garde relaxed. He turned on the leather seat cushion to look at Nan Stanfield. Today she was wearing a turtle-neck cotton shirt of a soft, faded green. The sleeves were pushed up on her arms. Her gleaming black hair was thick and cut short to hug the contour of her head. The tips of her ears showed beneath her hair; her skin was pearly clear, her lashes dark against her cheeks, and her firm-lipped mouth was rosy with its own color. Nan was not a beauty in Valley's exciting sense, but her bones were well set, her flesh well molded upon them.

Garde still sat turned in the wide seat so that he could watch this girl. In turn, she watched him, occasionally, as their images were reflected in the curve of the light mounted on the forward cowling. "All men," said the girl at the wheel, "fall in love with Valley to the extent of that consideration. But Valley is a one-man woman, and that man is Kurt Lillard." Even in the distortion of the light's convex side she saw his face relax.

"They once were engaged, you know. I'm sure now that Valley never stopped loving Kurt. She still loved him when she came home for a visit last summer—"

"THEY were together, I believe, on the night of the murder?"

"Yes, but why shouldn't they
